Death of Dillon's Father

“Sheriff Urges Freedom For 3 Convict Heroes,” Miami News, November 1, 1924.

<https://www.newspapers.com/image/298314457/?terms=jessie%20pearl%20brooke%20&match=1>

Transcription:

“Two dead and three wounded was the toll late Friday afternoon of a premature dynamite explosion on Bird rd., where convicts were blasting a temporary ditch to drain water threatening to overflow the road.

D. D. Brooke, captain of the South county convict camp, and Isadore Pommerance were killed. The former died before he reached the hospital, but Pommerance’s death came shortly after 5 p.m...”

(The article then describes how three convicts—Kelly, Overman, and Wolfson—attempted to save Brooke and Pommerance by taking them to the hospital. Overman then describes in detail how the accident happened. The article then proceeds to describe Brooke’s diligence in his line of work, and discusses his funeral plans.)

“Mr. Brooke was 48 years old. He is survived by his widow, Mrs, Jessie Pearl Brooke; four sons; Lloyd, Lester, Elton, and D. D. Brooke, jr., and three daughters, Geneva, Mildred, and Lena, all of Larkins; his mother, Mrs. Nancy Brooke, Oak Hill, Fla.; four brothers, W. C. and R. J. Brooke, of Oak Hill, J. F. Brooke of New Smyrna and A. W. Brooke of Marion county; also two sisters, Mrs. Annie Osteen and Mrs. Elie Gilbert of Oak Hill. He was a native of Florida.”

(The article then discusses funeral plans for Pommerance.)

BROOKE, Dillon D.

34024630

C-187

Private 1st Class, Company G, 7th Infantry, 3rd Division, World War II. 30 June 1915 to 25 May 1944. (Re-interred 17 August 1948). Next of kin; Pearl Brooke, mother, Miami, Florida.

(The 3rd Division had entered combat operations in the North African Campaign. Heavily engaged in Sicily and southern Italy, the Division was employed as part of the Anzio Beachhead assault force in early 1944. The hoped-for breakthrough did not occur and the Division was used defensively until the battles for the breakout successfully took place in May of 1944 leading to the capture of Rome. Brooke was killed in action the very day that final breakout was achieved).

"C. Lloyd Brooke grew up when Dade's suburbs were open fields and his father ran a South Dade convict camp as a prison superintendent.

Brooke saw Dade emerge as the cosmopolitan community it is today—building many of today's homes and buildings.

He died Thursday at age 77 of lung cancer after a long career as a police officer and then a skilled carpenter.

"He would do beautiful work and was very proud of it," said his wife Margaret Brooke.

He was also proud to be part of Dade's history. His parents were among the early settlers, arriving here in 1913. His father ran a prison unit. But he died in a dynamite accident on Halloween in 1924, when he was overseeing work on a canal by a group of convicts.

His death caused hardship on the family, who ultimately took in boarders to support themselves. The family lost considerable land holdings because they couldn't afford to pay the taxes.

Brooke served in the Navy during World War II. When he returned to Dade, he became an officer in what is now the Metro-Dade Police Department.

"He was kind of following in his father's footsteps," said his daughter Candace Otte of Tampa.

But, she added, "The pay was low, and he couldn't live on it."

So he went to work as a carpenter and often served as foreman on several home and commercial developments.

(The article then discusses a conflict Brooke faced to maintain Coral Gables' historic Pinewood Cemetery where the Brooke family plot is located and goes into his survivors, funeral services, and donations to be made in his memory.)
